DETAILED ACTION

Summary of changes in this action

1. The amendment overcomes the rejection to claim 7 for the reasons provided in Applicant's remarks.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-6 and 8-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Min (USPN 5,072,134).

With respect to claims 1-6, Min discloses, in Figs. 2 and 3, a circuit comprising: “a first phase internal voltage generator (20)”; and “a second phase internal generator (10)” having “a voltage pump” (3)”, “an input gate voltage generator (7’, see Fig. 4)” and “a power output circuit (M9)”, all connected and operating similarly as recited by Applicant.

With respect to claims 8-10, clearly the above circuit to Min will provide the recited method.

Examiner has fully considered Applicant's remarks for the above rejection and has not found them to be persuasive. Further, Applicant's remarks are not seen to be consistent with the claims. The claims state that the “first internal voltage generator” operates “upon receiving an external voltage source” and that the “second internal voltage generator” operates “substantially immediately” thereafter. As seen and expressly disclosed in the reference to Min, the “first internal voltage generator” 20 turns on at power up, due to the high voltage on node E responsive to the low voltage at the input of I9. Further, since the "second internal voltage generator" 10 is not responsive to feedback, such will also turn on "substantially immediately".

Claim 7 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
